

What is the book about?

The book is about medieval times and Septimus Heap who lives in a kingdom which has witches and wizards and normal people. Septimus Heap was apprenticed to the extraordinary witch called Marcia and they live in the wizard tower. His adopted sister is the princess whose mother was assassinated. He and his sister Jenna went to the palace and walked into the Queen's room and Septimus looked into a glass with black liquid in, suddenly he got pulled into the glass and was sent back in time five hundred years in the past and was forced to be an apprentice to a physician. He knew how to get back but how will he get the object? Read the book to find out.

Why read it?

You should read this book because it is full of excitement and it is different from other books. I would say people would like this book from ages 9-11. I rate this book five stars.

By Tom